PEREGRINE GLOBAL BALANCED FUND (ZAR HEDGED)

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND POLICY

The Peregrine Global Balanced Fund ("the fund") aims to provide investors with steady, long-term growth at appropriate levels of volatility. The intention is that growth be predominantly of a capital nature, with income largely reinvested.

To achieve the investment objective the fund follows a fund-of-funds approach and invests in a strategically determined mix of global equities, commodities, fixed income instruments and cash. Derivative instruments may also be used for the purpose of efficient portfolio management. The Manager seeks to protect the value of the ZAR hedged share class against fluctuations in the USD/ZAR exchange rate by appropriate currency hedging.

INVESTMENT ADVISOR COMMENTARY

US core inflation rose at an annualised rate of 3.7%, remaining well-above the US Federal Reserve's target and prompted Chairman Powell to adopt a more hawkish, 'higher for longer' narrative. US rates markets adjusted, yet again, by deferring expectations of the timing and quantity of interest rate cuts. US first quarter GDP growth of 1.6% year-on-year fell short of the 2.5% forecast by consensus. Inventory build was disappointing while underlying domestic demand remained robust and was supported by a strong labour market. Consumer spending was also resilient, but data showed that households continued to draw down on savings. After falling more than 5% during the first 3 weeks of April, US equities staged a partial recovery due to a host of positive earnings surprises. Microsoft and Alphabet (Google) collectively added $250bn in market value in a single day after beating market expectations. In Europe, the flash GDP estimate showed that the economy grew at 0.5% in the first quarter. Encouragingly, April's flash PMI supports a continuation of growth into the second quarter. At this stage, the ECB is still on track to start cutting rates in June. In Asia, Chinese equities staged a strong recovery after better-than-expected GDP data (+5.3%) and government's commitment to support the property sector by potentially cutting interest rates and reducing excess housing stock.

Global equities (MSCI World AC Index, in US dollars) fell 3.3% in April, dragged lower by the US and Japan which were down 4.1% and 4.9%, respectively. European equities performed relatively better, slipping 0.7%. US bonds (ICE BofA US Treasury Index, in US dollars) were down 2.4%. Emerging market equities (MSCI EM Index, in US dollars) rose 0.4%, helped higher by India and China which returned 2.3% and 6.6%, respectively. The Peregrine Global Balanced Fund ('the fund') is widely diversified and defensively positioned as many risks still abound. The ZAR hedged share class of the fund was down 1.2% while its peer group fell an average 1.9%.

Risk warning

The risk and return profile of a fund illustrates the amount of risk undertaken by an investor in the hope of achieving a particular return on an investment. The generally accepted principle is that potential return rises with an increase in risk. The risk and return profile on the face of this document is based on the historical performance of the fund. In addition to the risk warnings included elsewhere in this document, it is important to note that there are many other risks associated with investing in collective investments. These can include but are not limited to the following: general market risks (such as general movements in interest rates; external factors [war, natural disasters and such like]; changes to the law and regulatory frameworks; governmental policy changes; global, regional or national economic developments), risks related to a specific security (like the possibility of a company's credit rating being downgraded); and loss in the purchasing power of an investment as a result of an increase in the price of consumer goods (known as inflationary risks).

This fund invests in foreign securities. There are potential material risks associated with investing in foreign securities. These include but are not limited to: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risks, political and social instability, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, settlement risks and potential limitations on the availability of market information, all of which may have an impact on fund performance. In addition, risks associated with investing in emerging markets (which are generally less mature than those in developed markets) include but are not limited to currency risks, the possibility of expropriation, confiscatory taxation or nationalisation of assets and the establishment of foreign exchange controls which may include the suspension of the ability to transfer currency from a given country.

Derivatives

If this fund has exposure to derivatives, this fact and the level of effective exposure will be specified within this document. Where this fund invests in other funds which use derivatives, those underlying derivative exposures will not be contained in this document. Derivatives derive their value from the value of an underlying asset. Investing in derivatives involves risk because depending on how the derivative is structured, the fund's losses or gains may be unlimited. To prevent this, the fund's derivative positions must be "covered" at all times. This means that the fund must always hold the underlying asset on which the derivative is based, or have sufficient cash or "margin" to deliver if the fund's derivative positions move against it. If derivatives are used in this fund, the cash/cash equivalent shown in the asset allocation section includes the portion allocated to "margin" for covering derivative positions and such portion of cash/cash equivalent is therefore not available for use by the manager. Other asset classes shown in the asset allocation section represent the market value of those assets and must be read together with the derivative holdings disclosure. The use of derivatives in collective investment schemes is governed by regulation. Derivatives can be used only for efficiency in portfolio management, for increasing a fund's yield, or to protect the fund against losses if the value of the shares or instruments invested in, or the market, falls. They may not be used for speculating or for enhancing the return of the fund by using gearing. The most common derivatives are options (puts and calls) and futures.

Ongoing Charges and Total Expense Ratio (TER)

The Ongoing Charges figure is calculated in accordance with the Committee of European Securities Regulators guidelines. The TER is a measure of the fund's assets that have been expended as payment for services rendered in the management of the fund, expressed as a percentage of the average daily value of the fund, calculated over a period of a financial year by the manager.

General disclosures

This document is the minimum disclosure document required by Board Notice 92 of 2014 published by the Financial Sector Conduct Authority under the Collective Investment Schemes Control Act 45 of 2002. Collective investment schemes are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of participatory interests or the investment may go down as well as up. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance and may not be repeated. Collective Investment schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commission is available on request from the manager. Neither the manager, the company nor Citadel, provides any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of the fund. The manager has the right to close the portfolio to new investors in order to manage it more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. Where any forecasts or commentary about the expected future performance of asset classes or the market in general are made in this document, please note that neither the manager, the company nor Citadel guarantee that such forecasts or commentary will occur. Where this fund invests into other funds ("underlying funds"), delays in reporting by such underlying funds may impact on the accuracy of the asset allocation and country/sector allocation disclosures.

Performance disclosures

The performance calculated and shown is that of the portfolio. Individual investor performances may differ as a result of initial fees (if applicable), the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Where periods of longer than one year are used in calculating past performance, certain figures may be annualised. Annualisation is the conversion of a rate of any length of time into a rate that is reflected on an annual basis. All since-inception performance returns are calculated from the launch date of the portfolio.

Calculation of the NAV and price

The value of participatory interests is calculated on a NAV basis. The NAV is the total value of all assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any deductible expenses (which may include audit fees, brokerage, service fees, securities transfer tax and bank charges). Forward pricing is used. The price of participatory interests is calculated by dividing the NAV by the number of participatory interests in issue. The fund is available via certain LSPs, who levy their own fees. Investors in this fund may thus be liable for an initial fee and/or annual service fee levied by the third party administrator that is not reflected in the initial charge (where applicable) or NAV calculation. Prices are made available on the Peregrine website (www.peregrine.gg) in accordance with the dealing frequency of the fund.
